The 5th International Conference on Retinoids

Organizer Bio: Alexander Moise, PhD

Associate Professor, Medical Sciences Division, Northern Ontario School of Medicine, Sudbury, Canada

Dr. Moise is interested in the roles of retinoids and carotenoids in health and disease. His work uses rodent and avian models to explore the mechanisms that control retinoic acid levels and signaling during fetal and postnatal development. His work is conducted in collaboration with researchers in the U.S., Canada, Germany, and Brazil.
